

We want to hear from you

Chelan County PUD is considering a proposed standard for fuel source diversity.

The federal Public Utility Regulatory Policies Act and the Energy Policy Act of 2005 require electric utilities to begin considering certain standards by Aug. 8, 2007. PUD commissioners plan to hold hearings this November, prior to determining whether the standards are appropriate to adopt. Commissioners are seeking written comments from the public.

For details on the proposed standards and how to comment, please see the legal advertising in today's classified section of this newspaper, or visit www.chelanpud.org and click on "Customer Services."
