

Note: The load forecasting tool is a learning model that uses historical data and patterns to forecast load. It takes time for the tool to gather sufficient data representing changes in load patterns (such as changes due to COVID 19). Additionally, the load shape is not expected to change much in Chelan County as there are not many large Commercial and Industrial loads to drastically impact the load levels.

