To whom it may concern,

Chelan County continues to monitor the movement and direction of the Whispering Ridge slide area. Chelan County will continue to share its Whispering Ridge slope monitoring data with persons requesting the data.

The county is monitoring conditions in the vicinity of and affecting Whispering Ridge Drive and Squilchuck Road. However, the county is not conducting a study to develop a "fix" for the Whispering Ridge slope.

Other Whispering Ridge slope monitoring or studies, and any slope stabilization on private property will need to be undertaken and funded by non-county persons or entities with non-county funding sources(s). Chelan County has reached out to multiple state agencies and the governor's office inquiring about state funding for Whispering Ridge slope monitoring and study, but unfortunately no grant or other state funding source has been located or offered for those purposes.

Sincerely,

Chelan County Commissioners
